

SCHOOL OF MEDICINE

iCare

IMPLEMENTING CONVERSATIONS
TO ADVANCE RACIAL EQUITY

The iCare program aims to prepare members of the school community to lead action and conversations related to addressing systemic racism and race inequities. While this series is open to all members of the IU School of Medicine community, the target audience is non-minoritized people, seeking to reach those whose identity is connected with the larger white racial group.

Primary objectives:

Objective #1: Train participants on how to engage in critical race conversations.

Objective #2: Educate participants on how racial inequities, historically and presently, affect health outcomes.

Objective #3: Evaluate work, department policies, and institutional culture through the lens of anti-racism.

Objective #4: Formulate action plans and strategies to address racial equity within the institution.

SPEAKERS

How Do We Transition Into Action Roundtable Discussion

Karen Dace, PhD

Vice Chancellor for Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion IUPUI

How Do We Transition Into Action Roundtable Discussion

NiCole Keith, PhD, FACS, BS, MS

Associate Dean of Faculty Affairs in the School of Health and Human Sciences; Professor in the Department of Kinesiology at IUPUI

A Historical Perspective of Race

Joseph Tucker Edmonds, PhD, MDiv, BA

Assistant Professor of Africana Studies and Religious Studies at IUPUI

Race in Medicine, Research, and Health Inequities

Elizabeth Nelson, PhD

Assistant Professor of Medical Humanities and Health Studies Program; Adjunct Professor History and Africana Studies

Dialogue and Reflection

Dan Griffith, JD, BA

Director of Conflict Resolution and Dialogue Programs at IUPUI

Dialogue and Reflection

Sydney Rucker, MAT

Director of Diversity Initiatives for Faculty Affairs, Professional Development, and Diversity at Indiana University School of Medicine

Antiracism/Whiteness

Cleveland Hayes, PhD

Associate Dean, School of Education Academic Affairs
Professor | Education Foundations
Urban Teacher Education

Antiracism/Whiteness

Jim Scheurich, PhD, MS, BS

Professor in the Department of Urban Education
Counseling, Leadership and Policy Studies at IUPUI

A Historical Perspective of Race

Lasana D. Kazembe, PhD, MA, BFA

Assistant Professor in IUPUI's School of Education, Department of Urban Teacher Education and in the Africana Studies Program at IUPUI

How Do We Transition Into Action Roundtable Discussion

Lemuel Watson, PhD

Associate vice president for Diversity, Equity and Multicultural Affairs at Indiana University Bloomington

For more information, contact
Richard Brown M.A. or Alvaro Tori M.D. in FAPDD via email at fapdd@iu.edu or visit faculty.medicine.iu.edu/diversity/icare